“ Oh Andy. Love and miss you. You're in my heart forever. I'm so sorry your family is the way it is. I know how hard they made things for you. We almost made it to retirement to get away from them. Little Remi has probably changed so much. Tyler had a baby girl last week. Her name is Evelyn Lucille. Lady probably passed 75 pounds. She is always somewhere to watch my every move. I'm so thankful for her. You would love her. I miss you so much, my sweet man.

My dad is still pretty healthy but is getting frail. I'm moving him north but still Montgomery county to help with commute. I miss all our long conversations. I miss it all. Your birthday is next month. No devil's food cake this year along with your birthday dinner. Wonder what you would have picked for dinner this year. Love you so much.

You've been in my thoughts. I had to have sweet little Charlotte put to sleep. One year ago on the same day it was Squeegie. With you in between. I am learning to adjust to life without you. I still miss you with all my heart and always will. Life sure isn't an easy thing. I know I will be with you. My soul is yours forever. I guess your workplace fell apart without you. Henry left and Jamie quit. You made it tolerable there. Such an awful place and the management is a shit show. I miss your corny jokes and laughter. I miss everything. Your birthday is soon. Can't call you old man and celebrate your day with you this year. Maybe Charlotte is by your side. I miss her so much. Love always Sometimes I look out the back window and my imagination lets me see you pulling in and walking to the house. You would say where's my hug and kiss when you came in. I wonder if Charlotte misses you. She was your buddy. Big man with a chihuahua. Littlest barn dog ever too. I hope you are rejoicing with all your friends and relatives you lost. I remember how upset you were about Donald. That loss weighed heavy on you. I remember telling each other we will have a happily ever after.

You know how I am about animals. You would tell me over and over no more dogs. My friends had an accident breeding of German Shepherds. Twelve puppies. All winter she would send me pictures. Got down to two puppies. They kept one and guess who caved. She's beautiful. I know you would love her too. She has helped me so much. I got her when she was 7 mos old. That's how long they kept trying to get me to take one. They knew I was grieving so. I'm glad I did. We start training soon. She fit right in. Except little Charlotte doesn't care for her. Charlotte almost overnight got old. Her face and head is white. She was your buddy. Always slept next to you. You were the human furnace. What I would do to sleep next to you one more time. I still feel lost without you. I'm just not the same happy go lucky. My heart was so full of love. Feels empty. I'm not sure I'll ever feel that again. I'm thankful for the years we had. I wish I could have been there. Your daughter made sure that wouldn't happen. So weird. I'll never understand it. But then you warned me how they are. I will never understand people like that. Love you sweet man of mine.

I'm happy you have the things from his apartment and are enjoying them. We liked a lot of the same things and over the years I bought or gave him things for his apartment. I tried to make his life easier and wanted him to have things he needed and also for his apartment. I contributed knives for his collection too. I could find unique things for him. Enjoy!

Karen - March 13, 2023 at 11:37 AM

KA

As you know, he did not read texts or listen to voicemails. I'm still shocked that while he was so sick and with his fragile heart that you went thru his phone. You picked out what you wanted and went with it to cause toxic drama (and on a public platform) while he was so very sick only to control and manipulate him one last time. You kept him from me on his deathbed for selfish reasons with more of your narcissistic behaviour and fantasies. And your death threats towards me make me fully understand why he kept you both out of our relationship. He knew..

He was too sick to argue with the two of you. It makes me so sad to think his last days were filled with awful, toxic drama and not peace. His was so sick and his heart so weak. I wonder if the outcome would have been the same if I had taken him Saturday.

I chose not to go to his funeral for Andy's sake. I was sure you two would make a circus out of it for negative attention and I know he wouldn't have wanted that. Shame on you both for your behaviours. I know he is finally resting in peace eternally and out of your reach.

"Tell Me I Was Dreaming"

*When I woke up this morning
Wiped the sleep from my eyes
I found a new day dawning
And suddenly I realize
You're gone*

*Tell me I was dreaming
That you didn't leave me here to cry
You didn't say
You don't love me anymore
It was just my imagination telling lies
Tell me that you didn't say goodbye*

*I'm in a state of confusion
I hope things aren't what they seem
If this is really happening
Just let me go back to dream
You're home*

*Tell me I was dreaming
That you didn't leave me here to cry
You didn't say
You don't love me anymore
It was just my imagination telling lies
Tell me that you didn't say goodbye*

*Tell me I was dreaming (tell me I was dreaming)
That you didn't leave me here to cry
You didn't say
You don't love me anymore
It was just my imagination telling lies
Oh, tell me that you didn't say goodbye

Millionaire

/

Lyrics

*They say "Love is more precious than gold"
Can't be bought and it can't be sold
I got love enough to spare
That makes me a millionaire
I got a woman with eyes that shine
Down deep as a diamond mine
She's my treasure so very rare
She's made me a millionaire
When we ride around, ride around this old town
In my beat-up car, with the windows down
People look at her and they look at me
And say "That boy is sure living in luxury"
Sweet luxury
Because love is more precious than gold
It can't be bought, no, never could be sold
I got love enough to share
That makes me a millionaire
When the kisses fall from everywhere
Life reaches on, millionaire
When my pocket's are empty and my cupboard is bare
I still feel like a millionaire
'Cause love is more precious than gold
It can't be bought, no, and it can't be sold
I got love enough to spare
That makes me a millionaire*

I remember a long time ago when you called from your car and told me this was our song. Made me feel like we were teenagers in love. I miss you so much Andy. 🙏🙏🙏🙏🙏

I can't sleep again tonight. Looking for something on tv. All the scary movies you watched and the scary recommended movies are still on the apps. You loved them. I can't believe how many scary movies are out there. Your favorite was big foot movies. And we watched them all. I liked the westerns. I could talk you into series and you did like them. We missed Rudolph the red nosed reindeer this year. Sometimes you were so tired you would fall asleep and when I tried to change the channel it would wake you up somehow. There was always a snack involved. I remember asking you if you wanted some other kind of chocolate chip cookie. You told me no, I only like the ones you make. All the little but important memories make me smile now instead of cry. It's still late at night that my heart hurts for you and I cry. I always think of you. I guess it was your time but I wish you were here.

The milkshakes (strawberry for both of us) and root beer floats are good but not so much those burgers you love for me. And I remember driving pretty far so we could both bash on White Castle. I miss those little drives. We went looking for parts for your truck and I ended up getting a tour of Springfield. We drove thru the trailer park where you used to live and by your friend (James?) house. We stopped once to see Jeff Miller who's dad was Jim Miller Furniture and also Tyler's grandpa. I hadn't been up that way in years and enjoyed the little road trip. And Yellow Springs trips. You are quite the shopper when you are on a mission. I'll miss those things.

I hope you weren't afraid. I hope there was no pain. I hope your ex wife and daughter did not cause your fragile heart to fail or their lack of care when you were so sick. That's not where you would have wanted to be. It's here you want to be when you are sick and you tried to tell me.

They wouldn't let me see you and took over your phone. Except for the death threats. And the only reason was a last attempt at control and manipulation. They don't even know me. When I asked years ago about meeting them you warned me. You told me they wouldn't like me. Without even knowing me? They just didn't want you to have anyone and be happy for once in your life. We almost made it.

That was a long time of keeping it from them. When I talked to Alice she started off so nice and polite. Then she picked up who I was to you. Her voice sure changed and was rude. She forgot she wasn't married anymore. Always lived that fantasy. I tried to tell you she can't move on and how unhealthy that relationship was. Not to mention the lack of boundaries both women seem to have. Both always luring you into toxic drama and gossip. I just thought it was a weird and sad relationship. Not friends really. I think she still did the pity manipulation. I guess she just couldn't let go and move on. He told me exactly what she was to him and that she wasn't very smart.

I asked him once if he had any regrets about that marriage. I had heard everything. I don't think that could even have been a marriage.

They did clean out your apartment like vultures. You told me they did the same when her dad died and she had too much furniture and she took everything from him. I hope they enjoy everything I gave you for your apartment. I wanted it to be nice for you.

I didn't want any of it. I have what I wanted here and what you gave me.

The control was there from the beginning of that terrible marriage. Getting pregnant on a drunken one night stand and giving you the pity manipulation stories about her parents. She was old enough to know about birth control. I don't know of any marriage that lasts and is healthy from being manipulated into it. The only blessing was your children and now grandchildren. And they were used to manipulate you.

I couldn't even say goodbye. All I got was another death threat. It's unforgivable but not unexpected I guess from that kind of people. You were right about them. The worst part is that they think nothing wrong with what they did. And you had to live with that for so long. I know how desperate you were to get out and thought you found love with your second wife. Living with an addict destroyed that marriage. You deserved so much more. I hope I never encounter people like that ever again. People who are expert at playing others as being so sweet when they are actually rotten on the inside.

That's all over now and you will be eternally at peace and rejoicing. We will be together again. Love you forever.

I found a big foot statue for the yard for you. You loved every single movie out there with big foot. Sometimes more than once. It kind of made my heart melt. Some days that terrible pain hits me. I miss you so much. It's really hard on some days. We would talk and talk. I miss hearing about Kim and Josh and kids. Everything, Plans when you retire. We would have been able to put some distance with the difficult ones in your family. I wonder if Troy is still chief turd chaser for a slumlord management company. There is absolutely no one that will ever be able to replace you at the one you worked at. You could do anything and those poor residents liked you so much. I wonder if they even told them until after your services intentionally. The older couple were like your stepparents. I know they would have gone. I'm sorry your brother held getting you that job over your head. That was hard on you and you worried so much about it. You were an excellent worker considering where it was. I was always so proud of you. I love you dearly and my heart hurts. Something seems missing inside of me. What I would for one more hug and kiss.

Just wanted to say again, hope you are enjoying all the things I bought for his apartment. I tried to make it nice for him. I went over and got what I wanted before you scavengers. Just some little keepsake stuff. He has stuff here too.

You've been in my thoughts. Sometimes missing you hits so hard. I hope I'm in the last stage of grief. Maybe the last stage makes the hurt stop. I hope so. Love and miss you my sweet man.

Thinking of you today. Sunny and warm. Not too hot. I wonder if you would have been on your bike. I still keep finding little things of yours. You had the best Father's Day. With your dad and our Heavenly Father. No more earthly pains. I miss you Andy 🦋💙🕊️
