“ My heart breaks for all of you. Larry was around so much growing up. Shannon and him were always up to something. He always was so upbeat and had that big grin. He would bring his banjo up for Adam to play something for him. So thankful he was part of our life. He was truly a blessing. Love and prayers for you all.

“ Larry grew up next door to us. He and my brother Shannon were always into something. They should have taken a comedy act on the road. He became a little brother to me. Then, sweet Jacob and Lara became like my own. There are so many memories, coming to get help after he accidentally shot a doe, kidding me once about buying me a steak dinner, but he did anyway. Last week, he came by and talked to Rick for a while. The last thing he said was to call him if we needed anything. He was very soft hearted. Prayers for the family ❤️

“ He was, is, and always will be my bubby ❤️ He taught me so many things. One that keeps running through my mind is that blood is thicker than water. He taught me how to shoot, how to ride that 3 wheeler that I still swear to this day I messed up my tail bone on, and a love for great music. Just at a loss for words right now. Until we meet again ❤️

“ He was my uncle. I only saw him at thanksgiving growing up because we lived in ohio. He used to take us riding on three wheelers. I remember matt and I playing football against him at grandpas when I was 10. He wasn't happy
Matt and I got a touchdown against him but we laughed. He was always kind to us. Andrew

Larry is and always will be my baby brother. He was always willing to do anything to take care of his sis. His love knew no boundary and his chore was never too huge to ignore. For that we will be eternally grateful and blessed that he was our brother.
I always knew he was special....so did God...cause he only takes the best. So heres to my brother, one of t he best!! Love you forever and always!!
