“ Mel is my Dad. He was a great Dad and great person to be around. Always smiling and sharing his vast array of knowledge to anyone who would listen. He taught me a lot about a little bit of everything. I wish I had thanked him for that and for everything else he had done or tried to do for us. I miss him so very much and would give anything to have him here with me. He was one of the greatest men I've ever known.

“ Mel was always quick to congratulate an achievement or let you know that something you said or did made him laugh or smile. He shared his knowledge of poker not with condemnation but with respect and humor. Thank you Mel for enhancing my life as well as others. You will be missed. Sympathy to your family's loss.

To the family and friends of Mr. Melvin Garland. I was only able to spend a few hours on the weekends playing poker with Mel. Yet his presence stood apart from the others. As you have noticed with so many other comments from his online poker buddy's it probably seems a little odd. When I first joined the group he was in I found out how different it was from the others and part of that difference was your beloved Mel. I was just joking with him the other day about a few hands we had played against each other. Truth be told It wasn't about the cards that made the difference. It was the player. Mel could mix it up pretty well at the poker tables. Mel came off as somebody who respected others and commanded it by acting as a positive and strong man. His words were kind and his jokes were always in good fun. I will make it a point to tribute Mel every time I see pocket 4's in our games. Mel would have never forgotten or left any of us behind. I'm going to stand into the wind as it whispers his name and remind all of us in our group one of the men who made it so special.
